

ALL WHITE TO BE POPULAR FOR SUMMER WEAR

Wash Satin Favored for Suits, Separate Coats and Skirts; Handkerchief Linen Smart for Shirtwaists.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL
With the first, sultry days of summer, one naturally turns to white, or the pale-toned linens and cottons. Owing to the popularity of stripes and checks, it is safe to say that it will not be an all-white season, but all-white is to be very popular, nevertheless.

the new summer materials, both for suits and dresses, is wash satin. This comes in the plain flat tones and also in white. It is a practical fabric, too, as it sheds dust, does not wrinkle readily, and launders perfectly. Coats and blouses, too, for wear with skirts of linen, the corded cottons, or the regulation suit skirt of serge or gabardine, are being fashioned of wash satin, most effectively. A tennis coat, in Norfolk fashion, a belted Russian, or one of the various peplum models, developed in a soft tone of satin, may be worn for morning, sports wear, or for afternoons.

The sheer linens, cottons and silks are all very popular for frocks and blouses. Pale tones and white predominate. Organdies and voiles are dainty and cool for afternoon frocks, and net and tulle are combined effectively for evening and the more elaborate afternoon dresses.

Separate Coats and Skirts.
How the separate skirt could ever have been laid aside for a season or two, as it was, is indeed a mystery.

and often does not yield as patient and doctor think it should. All doctors agree that rest, fresh air, pure food and hygienic living surroundings are essential to relief, especially in the early stages. Yet, in many cases these measures do not bring the desired results.

Under such circumstances try Eekman's Alternative. It has been commended as highly beneficial by many sufferers and often has aided in recovery.

One of the constituents is a time-waiting remedy combined with other helpful ingredients so as to be easily assimilated by the average person, and, since it does not contain any narcotics, opiate or habit-forming drug, its use is not attended with danger. At your drug store.

when one considers how very practical it is. Its popularity this season, however, is quite making up for the year or two of indifference. Separate skirts of taffeta, satin, faille and similar silks are being worn considerably for all daytime purposes, combined with blouses of Georgette, chiffon, and the other sheer silks. For sports purposes, striped and checked linens, canvas weaves, cotton velours, corduroys, and the various white corded cottons are favored, as well as the novelty wash satins and jersey silks. Wool jersey in bright tones of rose, green, gold, and like shades is also popular.

The separate skirt and contrasting coat are particularly smart for sports purposes. Some of the good shops are showing cream-white serge skirts, combined with wash satin blouses, and coats of blue serge, or the novelty striped silks or linens, for tennis, golf and the like. This combination of white skirt and blue coat is not new, of course, but it is unusually effective.

Handkerchief Linen Blouses.
Orangy, voile, crepe de Chine and the wash satins are practical and popular for blouses this summer, and a particularly dainty revival is handkerchief linen. Although one expects linen to crush more easily than almost any of the other materials, it is nevertheless cool and fresh for summer wear. There are some especially pretty stripes and patterns in these linens, combinations of rose, French blue, pale greens, and the various other pastel shades, now favored in the crepes, voiles and other sheer cottons and silks. Two effective peplum blouses are illustrated here; one is of pongee, a slip-on model, finished at the normal waist with the new elastic shirring, and the other is of pale pink organdy. The pongee blouse is worn with a pongee skirt, making a cool frock for mornings or informal afternoon purposes. The organdy blouse, which closes down the front with loops and tiny crystal buttons, is belted with a narrow black grosgrain ribbon belt, and is worn with one of the new black satin skirts. This is one of the novel combinations of the season for afternoon wear.

Neck finishes and cuffs offer particularly interesting possibilities this season. A well fitting cuff has much to do with the success of the gown, and may be flattering or decidedly unbecoming to the hand. Although one sees but few short sleeves, as the season advances they will, in all probability, be as much favored as in seasons past. High collars seem to have entirely given way to the open throat, which proves that Dame Fashion has more of common sense to deal with just now than ever before in her reign.

thing to be talked about in the painted shoe top; black patent leather shoes, with white tops, are finished with a delicately colored fleur-de-lis or orchid, and canvas shoes also are styled effectively to carry out the color scheme of the frock. For low shoes and pumps the stenciled stockings is the thing. Cretonne trimmed canvas shoes are being worn with white linen and cotton sports costumes.

PLACES OPTION ON MINE IN THE CABALLERO AREA

Ore Struck a Short Time Ago Said to Justify Development Work in Highly Broken and Difficult Region.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL
Alamogordo, N. M., June 17.—C. A. Garrett, who owns a number of mines in the vicinity of Caballero canyon, nine miles east of Alamogordo, has given an option on the mines to W. L. Lewis and associates, of El Paso. He received a cash forfeit of several hundred dollars. The price of the mines named in the option is $20,000.

Mr. Garrett has a shaft sunk on one of the mines and lately has taken out a number of tons of valuable ore, which was carried on mules to the railroad, six miles distant, and shipped to the smelter at El Paso. There is no adequate wagon road to the mines, as the country in that region is too rough to build a good road and keep it in repair without an enormous expenditure.

The mines are near the Caballero springs, which flow a big head of water, and the water can easily be piped to the shaft that is now being worked or to any place where the new company would want to put machinery for further operations.

Country Puzzles Even Experts.

The mining district in the Caballero country has been examined closely by a number of geologists in the past few years, but the reports they made have never been favorable to the development of the camp. Mr. Lewis says that the geological formation of the district is such as to puzzle even the experts, as there has never been a mining camp discovered here like this one. He says, however, that he believes this mining camp can be developed to such an extent that the output will rival that of the camp at Bisbee, Ariz., and that his company intends to expend sufficient money to find out whether or not it is a paying proposition.

The surface bears low-grade ore which can be worked with steam shovels in the same manner as the surface ore is handled by the Chino Copper company, at Santa Rita. The shaft on Mr. Garrett's holdings is 89 feet deep, although a large percentage of the ore has been mined has been taken from the top of the ground.

Send Magazines to Camp.

A group of Alamogordo women recently sent a box of reading matter to Company C, New Mexico national guard, at Columbus, and Mrs. B. E. Pearman, who was in charge of the shipment, received the following acknowledgment from Lieut. R. D. Daugherty of C company:

"We have received the box of magazines, and on behalf of the entire membership of C company I wish to thank you and the other ladies of Alamogordo, whose thoughtfulness not only has provided us with an appreciated supply of good reading material, but whose kindness in remembering us has also added not a little to the grateful feeling we hold for all of our friends who wish us well and look after our comfort in a substantial way."

"Reading material naturally is scarce in a mobilization camp like this, and it would have been indeed hard for you to have found anything else which would have been as great a source of satisfaction to all of the men. Every man in the organization is taking advantage of the opportunity you have afforded us, and at any time between drill hours most of the men can be found in their tents enjoying your gifts."
